USA PREMIERE PERFORMANCES marked with , Houston Premieres marked with *

1. Carolyn Carlson Company will have its USA premiere of a curated version of Carlson's *Black over Red (My dialogue with Rothko), a contemplative solo intertwining visual, performing arts and poetry, based on Carlson's book, Dialogue with Rothko, Untitled: Black, Red over Black on Red (2012), in dedication to American Abstract Expressionist painter Mark Rothko. Originally danced by Carlson since 2013, set to live music, played by cellist Jean-Paul Dessy, the solo will mark a world premiere with a special guest performance by Paris Opera Ballet Etoile, Marie-Agnes Gillot. The solo was given to Marie-Agnes Gillot at the special request of Choreographer Carolyn Carlson. Gillot performed at DSF 2009 with Carlson's work Signes, a section of the full work, L'Esprit du bleu. Gillot was promoted to the status of Etoile (star) after starring in this choreography's performance for the Paris Opera Ballet in 2004. Paris based Carolyn Carlson, sees herself as a "visual poet." She has said, "I dance for the soul."

Carolyn Carlson's pas titled *Li, set to music by Aleksi Aubry-Carlson, will also be premiered in the USA by two Japanese, Paris based dancers, Chinatsu Kosakatani and Nakata Yutaka. Li was created as a part of Carolyn Carlson's series of choreographic works under the title Short Stories. A poem follows:

« Li » est un idéogramme qui désigne, à l'origine,
le grain dans le jade ou le bois,
le « motif organique » à la base de toutes choses,
quand l'être s'accorde avec le « tao ».
Les transformations de la nature
Le souffle du vent
La pénombre et la lumière
La dualité du yin et du yang
Que l'un devienne l'autre
Sans un mot.

("Li" is an ideogram that means, originally,
the grain in the wood or jade ,
the "organic cause" at the base of all things,
when being accords with the " tao ".
Nature's transformations
The wind
The darkness and the light
The duality of yin and yang
That one becomes the other Without a word.)

2. Susanna Leinonen Company, Finland will debut in Houston with a curated version of *Romeo & Julietchoreographed by Artistic Director Susanna Leinonen and Jouka Valkama, set to music by Sergei Prokofjev mixed with a contemporary score by Finland Prize winner, composer Kasper Laine. The company will also present Susanna Leinonen's *Touch of Gravity, set to music by Kasper Laine. This Festival year will mark the 2nd appearance of Susanna Leinonen's work in Dance Salad Festival. Her choreography Trickle Green Oak was, performed by dancers of the Finnish National Ballet, Helsinki, premiered in North America in Dance Salad Festival in 2004. William Shakespeare's tragic but timeless love story has touched people's hearts for centuries. In the hands of choreographers Susanna Leinonen and Jouka Valkama the work gains an interpretation in which two families and two languages of movement meet. Romeo & Juliet, premiered on November 30th, 2012 in Helsinki, Finland. Touch of Gravity, is a contemporary dance performance that defies the laws of nature. The dancers escape the limits of their physicality with deliberate slow movements emerging from the ground. The moving figures seek their places within a group and attempt to disrupt its balance. The striking visuals give rise to a surreal on-stage universe. Touch of Gravity, premiered in Helsinki, on August 21, 2014, was produced in cooperation with Helsinki Festival and Stoa and financially supported by the National Council for Dance, National Council for Music and the City of Helsinki.

3. Eastman from Antwerp, Belgium, presents the Houston Premiere of a curated version of *Fractus V choreographed by Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui, Founder and Artistic Director of the company who will dance in this piece himself with 4 dancers of different contemporary backgrounds set to live music played by 4 musicians from Japan, Korea, India and the Democratic Republic of Congo. "Nine different nationalities and outspoken identities will dialogue to come to an intense, dramatic and fluent whole... Fractus V stands for the natural fractures which are necessary to grow and become stronger...In Fractus V, I want to deepen the questions on information and manipulation; propaganda versus a more 'objective' and factual approach. If I translate Chomsky's ideas for myself, I gain the insight that: 'The only way the individual is able to protect himself against political and social propaganda, is to study all the information available. Each day we are bombarded with news that tries to influence our thinking. It is a very intensive exercise to filter everything and to resist believing what we are told to believe,' writes Cherkaoui.

Curated sections of Cherkaoui's Myth and Origin came to DSF in 2009 and also in 2010, Loin was danced by the Ballet du Grand Théâtre de Genève. In 2011, DSF presented Cherkaoui's Faun. Petrus (out of PUZ/ZLE) was specially curated from the Avignon Festival's commissioned PUZ/ZLE, co-produced by Eastman and premiered in DSF 2013. The US Premiere of Cherkaoui's Embrace (curated version of m̄longa), a Sadler's Wells production, London, UK, was premiered in the US in Dance Salad Festival 2014. Cherkaoui's Rigor Mortis, created specifically for Dance Salad Festival,, premiered in 2015. The Royal Ballet of Flanders, (Antwerp, Belgium), presented his Fall in DSF 2016 where Cherkaoui was appointed Artistic Director in 2015.

DSF audiences remember Proietto's remarkable performance in Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui's Faun in DSF 2011, as well as his own choreography Cygne, danced by former Houston Ballet dancer Samantha Lynch in DSF 2014.

5. Texas Ballet Theater from Fort Worth & Dallas, Texas, will present a powerful, double Pas de Deux from Carmen choreographed by Carlos Acosta, former Principal Guest Artist of The Royal Ballet and arguably one of the most famed dancers in the world. Taking the parts of Carmen and Don Jose, the double Pas de Deux will be danced by former Houston Ballet dancers, Carl Coomer and Leticia Oliveira. The famous opera's universal and timeless themes of love, jealousy and revenge are laid bare in a powerful setting. "...Stylishly sexy, seductive and earthy, Oliveira simmers in the title role." Edge Media Network.
